Start 1956 Highway Program, Assemble Road Equipment

Department of highway crews have returned to the Crow's Nest Pass this week and have set up an office in the Kubik block in Blairmore.

Highway engineers have been taking levels of the road through the Frank Slide, and are taking levels in the town of Blairmore.

Road equipment belonging to the Sundre Construction Company has arrived in the Pass and is parked near Bellevue awaiting settled weather to start construction of the new No. 3 highway.

The road through the Frank Slide from Bellevue west through Frank to Blairmore and from the west end of Blairmore to a point near the Crow's Nest Pass Municipal hospital was ready for surfacing last fall but had to be left over for this work due to the early winter weather conditions.

The section through the entire town of Blairmore was carried over last year to be done this year as a major project and will be done through the town where the road will be completely torn up and filled in, in preparation for surfacing. The town is at present inquiring into the possibility of having the space from the edge on both sides of the road paved to the sidewalk which would greatly improve the appearance of the town besides providing better drainage and a better curb system.

Grading equipment has been working through the Frank Slide and west of Blairmore for the past week and it is expected that with the return of warm weather work will get under way without further delay.

Old Age Pensioners Plan Picnic

At a meeting of the Old Age Pensioners' Association it was planned to hold a picnic for all members to be held at Crow's Nest Lake. Members will be taken to the picnic by Dick's Bus. A date for this event will be picked at the next meeting.

The executive reported a very successful fashion show and thanked all those who had donated and helped with this affair.

The convention of the Association will be held in Tiber and President Mrs. N. Goulding and Secretary E. Kostelnik will attend as delegates of the local club.

Mrs. N. Goulding welcomed the new members and thanked Mrs. J. Stevenson for a cloth which she had donated and which will be raffled in the near future.

Following the meeting the assembly were entertained by the high school choir under the direction of Mrs. G. Cousins.

These voices were well trained and the selections well chosen, and both teacher and pupils can be very proud of their choir as they sing very well together. The choir was really enjoyed by all and well applauded.

Bingo was then played with Mr. Roberts winning the men's prize, and Miss M. Roughland taking the ladies' prize.

The choir was again heard singing several selections, bringing a very enjoyable evening to a close.

Victoria Day On May 21

Queen Elizabeth's birthday will be officially celebrated on Victoria Day, May 21, this year.

The proclamation of May 21 as Victoria Day and the day set aside to observe the Queen's birthday means that there will be no holiday Thursday, May 24, the traditional day upon which Victoria Day is celebrated.

Instead, the observance of May 21 as Victoria Day will give holiday-makers a long week-end beginning Saturday, May 19, and ending on the Monday. A proclamation fixing May 21 as Victoria Day has been issued by the federal government.

Queen Elizabeth was born April 21. The official celebration of her birthday will thus be a month later this year.

Canadian Legion Ladies' Auxiliary Hold Rally

Some 200 women "invaded" Coleman on Wednesday afternoon when one of the largest rallies of the Canadian Legion Ladies' Auxiliary met in Coleman.

Representatives from auxiliaries at Claresholm, Fort Macleod, Vulcan, Pincher Creek, Bellevue, Blairmore and Coleman gathered at the Legion and paraded to the music of the pipes under Pipe Major J. Moore, to the Elks hall where the business meeting was held.

On entering the hall the ladies found seating accommodation.

Mrs. H. Maslen, president of the Coleman Auxiliary, then opened the meeting by calling on the Sgt.-at-Arms and instructing her to accompany the various dignitaries to the stage. The flag bearers headed by Mrs. E. Gunder and Mrs. E. Campbell, presented the colors, some 11 in number. Then the honored guest, Mr. M. Drew, president of the Coleman branch of the Canadian Legion, and Mayor Frank Aboussaff of Coleman. Then the presidents of the visiting auxiliaries, the provincial officers and finally, Mrs. M. Dexter, provincial president were escorted.

They were all preceded down the aisle by the Sgt.-at-Arms and the Coleman flag bearers to the music of a march played by pianist Mrs. E. Spivek.

Mrs. Maslen then introduced the various visiting dignitaries. Mr. Drew, Mr. Aboussaff, Mrs. M. Dexter, Calgary, provincial president; Mrs. E. Pargetter, Calgary, provincial secretary; Mrs. I. Williams, Edmonton, first vice-president provincial command; Mrs. H. Mark, Blairmore, district commander; Mrs. H. Hunter, Vulcan, zone commander; Mrs. P. Jones, Coleman, zone commander, and Mrs. W. Anderson, Coleman, secretary, and welcomed all the visiting auxiliaries and hoped their stay in Coleman would be a happy one and that they would derive some benefit from this rally.

President Drew was then called upon and welcome the officers and auxiliary members to the rally. He stated that he hoped their stay would be pleasant and that anything the Coleman Legion branch could do they would be only too willing to give a helping hand. He wished the rally a successful meeting and hoped the ladies would get a chance again to visit Coleman and they would always be assured of a warm and friendly welcome. He stated that the Legion depended on their auxiliary at all times to support them and hoped that this co-operation would be as forthcoming in the future as it had been in the past.

The Mayor, Mr. Aboussaff, then addressed the gathering. He stated that he sincerely welcomed all to the rally and hoped their stay would be pleasant. Although the welcome may not be as refined as those extended in the city it was none-the-less not lacking in sincerity and was genuine. He hoped that the rally would be successful and that the hospitality of the town of Coleman would be at top efficiency. With so many people in attendance the work of the auxiliary must be worthwhile or none would bother coming to such a rally. If auxiliaries in other towns are as active in community affairs as the local one, who have taken their place and bettered the community by their activities, the auxiliary must be a powerful organization. It seems the auxiliary knows where they are going and are doing their best to get there.

Mr. Aboussaff then quoted from Holmes "It is not where you are standing but what direction you are travelling".

The two major points in life were behavior and freedom. The mothers of the world directed the behavior of the world and thus freedom is acquired. Freedom was run by rules and regulations and as the women were the guardians of both these they thus helped to rule the behavior and freedom of the world and nations as a whole.

Mrs. Maslen then turned the chairmanship of the meeting over to District Commander Mrs. R. Mark of Blairmore, who thanked the Coleman club for the invitation to the rally and for the courage she received. She also stated that this being the 7th district rally held she believed also that it was the biggest yet held. The various presidents of the visiting auxiliaries were called upon by the chairman and each extended their thanks and success for the rally. The zone commanders also expressed their sentiments.

The reports of the secretaries were then heard with the activities for the year since the last rally, being enumerated.

According to the various reports the year has been profitable for (Continued on Page 5)

Luxurious high-fat diet one big reason for heart attacks

After a thorough study of all known clues to why American men are so much more prone to heart attacks than men of some other nations, a distinguished scientist could put a finger on only one thing—the American "luxurious high-fat diet."

"The incidence of myocardial infarction among American men aged 50 is not simply a little higher than among men of the same age in populations who live on low-fat diets—it is many times higher," said Dr. Ancel Keys, director of the laboratory of physiological hygiene of the University of Minnesota.

He granted at once that neither he nor anyone else could prove that all of "this tremendous difference" was due to high fat diets alone. "But it is fair to say," he added, "that, except for physical exercise, no other clue is in sight. Even the concept that 'stress and strain' is influential needs study because of the complete absence of evidence for its validity."

TRY AND STOP ME!

By BENNETT CLEF

What does a circus stunt man, who specializes in being shot out of cannons, think about? Well, Luis Roldes, who did that sort of thing superlatively well in Barcelona, Spain, for over 10 years, thought a lot about his wife—and her occasional bad aim. For it was she who fired the cannon. Seventeen times Roldes went to the hospital. Finally, she shot him straight into the lions' cage. That did it. Stunt man Roldes applied for a job selling tickets.

A stoutish lady hurried into the city health department of Charlotte, N.C., and was promptly directed to the maternity section. After a thorough examination, including X-rays, she suddenly rebelled, declaring, "I don't see why I have to go through all this just to get my little boy's teeth fixed!"

Mr. Sapporatus was watching the stock ticker when his 12-year-old daughter phoned to report "Mommy put both cars in the garage this morning and now she can't get them out."

"Why not?" asked Mr. Sapporatus. "You seem to have forgotten just like mommy," said his daughter. "We only have a one-car garage."

A tax collector was examining the books of a delinquent—but slightly worried—delicatessen proprietor when the clerk, cowering aloft to fetch a can of preserved peaches, upset a whole pyramid of same. Cans came tumbling down on the tax collector's noggin, sending him sprawling to the ground.

"Be careful, Irving, you fool," cried the proprietor. "Supposing that had been a customer!"

Will challenge Shaw's scheme for alphabet

The British Museum will challenge George Bernard Shaw's bequest setting up a fund to increase the English alphabet to about 40 letters, one of Shaw's friends said recently.

I. J. Pitman, a British member of Parliament who knew Shaw well, said the suit will determine the disposition of a substantial sum of money from royalties earned on Shaw's writings and the famous dramatist and died in 1950 at the age of 94.

Shaw's will provided that it nothing is done about his scheme to change the alphabet—one of his pet brain-children the fund would be split among the British Museum, the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art, and the National Gallery of Ireland.

Pitman said Shaw was irritated by the fact that a single letter in English can stand for several different sounds. He thought about 40 letters would attain his goal of one sound for one letter.

The public trustee, a government office administering estates, was directed to get the project going within 20 years, so there still is lots of time. But Pitman said he got the impression the public trustee's office doesn't care much for this task.

"It knows a lot about estates," he said, "but not very much about alphabets."

Pitman said Shaw's estate "is still earning a lot of money." "Royalties are still coming from many sources, and a really substantial sum is involved," he added, "but I am not permitted to reveal the figure."

Shaw's estate was estimated at about $1,000,000 soon after his death. He made numerous specific bequests, the alphabet fund to be set up with the residue.

Over-forty exercises

A reasonable amount of exercise is good for everyone and it should be suited to the age, weight and condition of health. For the "over-forties" who have tendencies towards over-weight, the doctor should be consulted before any strenuous program is started. Most doctors approve walking, gardening, moderate golf and lawn bowling. For those who have always been swimmers, this, too, will probably be allowed on the program for those in normal health.

Takes six workmen to instal washer

The British magazine Shipping complained recently that it requires six workmen to install a rubber washer to keep a marine toilet seat from hitting against a bulkhead when lifted.

The magazine said such "restrictive practices" are duly multiplying efforts to connect ships on time.

It listed the six workers as:

1. The marker off who marks the spot for the washer.
2. The driller who drills a hole for the screw.
3. The caulker who threads the hole in the bulkhead.
4. The joiner who marks and fits the wooden panel and stopper.
5. The polisher who touches up the pad.
6. The painter who touches up the bulkhead.

Official opening Saskatoon school for retarded, April 18

The John Dolan School for severely retarded children in Saskatoon, the dream of a Saskatchewan farmer, will be officially opened by the Honorable W. S. Lloyd, minister of Education, on Wednesday, April 18.

This community day school, begun one year ago and drawing upon resources said to be available to any community in Saskatchewan, has grown to three classrooms with an enrolment of 21 children. An additional eight children are awaiting the opening of a fourth classroom.

The school is named after John Dolan, a farmer from Girvin now living in Saskatoon, who was instrumental in starting the Saskatchewan branch of the Parents' Council for Severely Retarded Children. His continuing efforts on behalf of these parents and their children enlisted the community support which gave the school its start and obtained a grant of $1,000 from the Canadian Mental Health Association.

Community recognition of John Dolan's service has resulted in his nomination for Saskatchewan's "Citizen of the Year" award.

The purpose of the John Dolan School is to provide training for retarded children in the community who are not educable within the ordinary school system. By supporting the school, the sponsoring groups recognize that such children have a right to training within the limits of their abilities. Day-school training can keep these children out of already overcrowded institutions and in a

Climax Timothy seed available

REGINA.—Seed supplies of Climax Timothy are being distributed to interested seed growers in Saskatchewan, this spring. The seed, which was produced by the Canadian Forage Seeds Project, is approved stock and is eligible for registered production.

Climax is a superior variety adapted to eastern Canadian conditions and was developed by the Canada Department of Agriculture at Ottawa. Although not recommended for hay or pasture use in Saskatchewan, except under special conditions, production of seed is feasible in the better moisture districts of the province, particularly the northeast.

It is expected there will be a good demand for Climax seed in eastern Canada and the United States, assuring Saskatchewan growers of a reasonably good market.

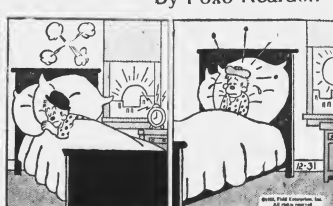

Farmers in better moisture areas of Saskatchewan who wish to go into seed production of Climax, may get further information about the distribution of seed stocks by writing to R. E. McKenzie, director of the Plant Industry Branch, Department of Agriculture, Regina.

The energy food of gladiators

Probably the oldest—and best—of all energy foods for athletes is honey. Records show that it was popular even back in the days of ancient Greece, when athletic competition was tremendously important to the very lives of certain competitors.

Frequent mention is made in historical writings of the meals of the gladiators and athletes who competed to the death. Oatmeal and honey seem to have been the most popular food for athletes in training.

The experiences of ancient trainers and athletes which led to the selection of honey as a training food have been repeated down through the years. Now it's a time-tested food that is more popular than ever. Observers at the recent Winter Olympics reported that many of the teams and individual athletes used a mixture of tea and honey before, during and after competition as a quick energy pick-up.

We certainly recommend honey to any athlete looking for a fast and effective pick-up. It will help you prepare for all-out effort, or to recover your energy quickly after a hard game or practice session.

What do to about nausea

Many athletes are bothered by nausea if they are forced to exert themselves heavily during games or practices. This is particularly true in track and field, and it appears to be caused by the excess acid in the stomach caused by the muscular activity or undigested food.

This can be prevented by eating lightly and taking nothing but easily digested foods in the pre-effort meal, and by taking a sodium dose of sodium bicarbonate 20 minutes before activity. Another very effective treatment is 15 drops of oil of peppermint in half a glass of water. Three or four peppermints after the pre-game meal also help.

Take care of your throwing arm

Many injuries to the throwing arm are caused by carelessness. One of the commonest forms of arm trouble is throwing too fast too soon.

Any player can injure a shoulder or elbow if he tries to throw too hard in the first week or two of his season. Particularly in this part of the season it's vital to warm up well with plenty of easy throwing, and then to confine any throwing that must be done to medium pace, concentrating on form and relaxation. Build up gradually, and don't throw a heavy load on the arm until it is ready to take it. Remember, a baseball player with a bad arm will get nowhere, and what you do at the beginning of the season will affect your arm for the rest of the schedule, perhaps even for the rest of your career.

Stuart College has announced a national service for the development of all-around sports and physical fitness levels in Canada. This newspaper is pleased to participate in this plan by presenting "The Sports Clinic" to its readers in the best interests of this community. Hope for new types of grain from U.K. atomic experiments

New strains of wheat, barley and oats may result from experiments now taking place at the U.K. Atomic Energy Authority Station at Harwell. Seeds are bombarded either with neutrons or with gamma rays and then planted in the country in natural conditions.

Tests have been going on for several years, a spokesman for the Authority said recently. Seeds are irradiated in a pile at Harwell. They are radio-active only for a very short period when they are in the pile and as soon as they are removed they lose their radioactivity.

Among the types of grain which have been subjected to irradiation recently is Kuga Two, the hard wheat which did well at last year's Royal Winter Fair at Toronto. A soft wheat called "Peko," Pendek oats and several new strains of barley for the continent have also been used. Each grain has been hand-planted two inches apart and the first blades should appear shortly.

Progress of the experiment is being closely followed by the plant geneticists, agronomists and farmers. The outcome however is conjectural. Neither scientists nor farmers will jump to a conclusion on the evidence of this year's yield.

It is hoped eventually to produce new strains of wheat, oats and barley which will ripen earlier, be bigger in yield and better in quality than any now known.

Gamma rays were at first solely used in the experiments, but neutrons are preferred for

New method for debarking logs

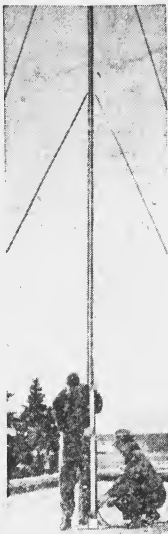

The machine age has brought a new look to log ponds across the United States—logs floating in the raw.

Novel steel machines now give bark the business, where formerly almost all bark was removed by hand. They slice it, beat it, knead it, chew it, gnaw it and otherwise strip it off.

New markets for products requiring bark-free logs caused the speed up the debarking process. Wood fibre industries of the Pacific Northwest and the South to through mechanization.

"Steelways, publication of American Iron and Steel Institute, says that probably the most dramatic of all the new machinery is a hydraulic debarker for king-size logs.

Under pressures up to 1,800 pounds per square inch, 1,000 gallons of water per minute are forced against each log through a steel nozzle, debarking in the process.

OTTAWA FOLLY

It's a strange and confusing age we live in, and recent events in Ottawa make the doing of Hollywood stars seem restrained and normal. The prima donnas of Ottawa heave money around so freely they make even Cecil B. De Mille's press agents look like pikers.

A recent example is the Trans-Canada Pipeline deal, in which the Minister of Trade and Commerce has elected to star. The "chosen instrument" of the government of Canada is dominated by Tennessee Gas Transmission Company, and has a record of broken promises as long as both my arms. It has let down Mr. Howe himself and all the people of Canada. It ought to be tossed off the set and a new cast of players selected; but apparently Ottawa — once engaged in an act of folly — will never, never retract.

Unless the people demand it! Unfortunately for the Ottawa prima donnas it is now pretty generally known that a new cast of players is readily available. Those in the know claim that the Frank McMahon interests, which built the successful West Coast Transmission line, offered to build the pipeline from Alberta, through Winnipeg, over the top of the lakes to Montreal, without any government financing or guarantee of any description. It is rumored that Mr. McMahon was willing to post a half-million dollar bond that he'd complete the whole line by 1958; that he'd build the line as far as Winnipeg by this winter.

But the prima donnas hate to admit they've been let down by their "chosen instrument". Now, on top of all the other inducements they've offered to Trans-Canada, they propose to lend it $80,000,000 of public money to get started.

This sort of activity has generated a good deal of heat and dismay, even among Liberals. A Manitoba MLA Jack St. John, has asked Ottawa for an explanation. Liberal newspapers, too, are beginning to ask mighty sharp questions. Manitoba is convinced it could have natural gas flowing through Winnipeg by next winter without a cent of public money, expended, and without further dilly-dallying with the Tennessee people, in whom they've lost all confidence.

Calgary Stampeders Play Football "Their Way" With 'Pass'

The Calgary Stampeders' representative, Mr. Hinimier met with representatives of Coleman's town council, Board of Trade, the Sports Association, Lions Club, the Elks, and Coleman Collieries on Sunday, May 6th in the town hall to discuss the feasibility of having the football club hold their summer training camp here in Coleman. The Coal Company gave generous offers of shower rooms, and the local hotels offered rooms with board at a very special price. The sports field was measured and everything possible was extended to the club for a training centre that any town could offer.

Now let's analyze the negotiations—First, was this only a social call by the Stampeders Football Club representative, at least that's how it appears, inasmuch as The Albertan, a Calgary morning newspaper carried the news Monday morning stating that the Stampeders Football Club had decided to make Nelson, B.C. their training headquarters. How Come? When the football representative stated that no decision would be made before Monday evening; it's quite plain to anybody that there was no intention on behalf of the Calgary Club to consider any other point on Sunday or any other day, when the decision had already been made while they were talking to us. We wonder how much support will be given from Nelson, or how much from Southern Alberta as other towns were treated in much the same fashion as we were. Why? was the time of our organizations and don't forget their efforts so loosely used on Sunday if the decision had already been made. There is no need to wonder now why the Stampeders have had so much controversy within their organization the last few years if this is an example of how they do business; This newspaper will not quote the derogatory statements made about this fiasco of negotiations that has gone on between our town and the Stampeders. It appears that we were not the only ones given the run-around, I refer to the article published by Mr. Bud Slapak in The Pass Herald on Blairmore efforts. We understand Taber, and Lethbridge fared no better.

Calgary Stampeders Do It Again By Bud Slapak

BLAIRMORE — The following is an account of the dealings that were held in the Pass concerning the Stampeders last weekend. Before I begin, I would like to congratulate both Coleman and Blairmore for their efforts in trying to get the Calgary football club to train in the Pass. Those that were responsible for the invitations extended to the club realized the great benefits that would have been gained in advertising, etc., had the team used the Pass for a training camp. With this thought in mind, contact was made and Bob Hinimier visited Blairmore and Coleman last week end. I am not sure just what Coleman offered the club but the offer was as good as was Blairmore's. To quote Mr. Hinimier, "We want to be able to house, train and shower the players within walking distance of the field." If these terms could be met, the club was to be contacted before Monday evening, until then no decision as to the site picked would be made. However, the Albertan, the morning paper of Calgary, carried the story as to the chosen site, Nelson, B.C. Monday morning. Was Nelson already picked before the "social visit"? Why did the Calgary Stampeders send a man down here to look over the Pass? Where do they expect to get support for their games? How many fans will travel from Nelson to Calgary?

What do you think? I know how it strikes me, does anyone know if a chartered bus will be leaving Calgary for Edmonton games?

New Forestry Caravan Donate to Canadian Forestry Assn.

At a presentation in the Legislative Building grounds on May 4th, Mr. H. G. Bonson, district manager, Mercury, Lincoln, Meteor division, Ford Motor Co. of Canada, Limited, turned over to the Canadian Forestry association a 1956 Meteor Sedan Delivery for use in carrying on the Association's forest conservation tours in the forested areas of the Prairie Provinces. Mr. Wm. McG. Rait, president of Pioneer Grain Company and chairman of the Associated Manitoba Board of Directors, accepted the car on behalf of the Association, expressing appreciation on this generous help in carrying on the Association's educational tours. Also present were Mr. J. C. Cowan, Deputy Minister, Department of Mines and Natural Resources, Province of Manitoba, Mr. J. G. Somers, Provincial Forester, Manitoba Forest Service, Mr. V. B. Newman, chief, Fire Protection, Canadian National Railways, and Mr. F. G. Nicholson, Public Relations, Ford Motor Company of Canada. Mr. Newman and Mr. Somers are directors of the Canadian Forestry Association.

Alan Beaven, manager of the Association's Prairie Provinces division, was also present.

The Ford Motor Company has generously been supplying vehicles for the Association's educational tours during the past number of years. Donated on an indefinite loan basis, the cars are replaced by new ones every second year as the Company's contribution to the important work of forestry conservation. Like its predecessors, this handsome new vehicle is painted a bright red and suitably lettered with the association's crest and name on the sides, and an appeal "Prevent Forest Fires" on the panel of the rear door. This new vehicle is also equipped with safety seat belts, padded instrument panel, deep dish steering wheel and safety door locks for the driver's protection. These "forestry caravans" have become a familiar visitor to hundreds of forest communities in all three western provinces. Completely equipped with sound projectors and a portable power plant they carry Association conservation officers over itineraries arranged in co-operation with the Provincial Forest Services, with the meetings held attracting large audiences. The car replaced by this new vehicle travelled 31,516 miles in the past two years, during which 510 meetings were held, attended by 72,576 people.

These tours are playing an important part in securing public co-operation in the prevention of forest fires and in wider acceptance by those living in and near our forest areas of their personal responsibility towards forest resources upon which most of them depend, directly or indirectly, for a living.

the various branches.

Mrs. Dexter, the provincial president, then addressed the meeting. She thanked the hostess branch for their invitation and their courage.

She stressed the importance of the Polo Fund to which all auxiliaries donated and also the need for the further support in the future.

The Hospital Fund to which the auxiliaries donate this year, will help to furnish a lounge room for the new wing for the disabled veterans to be opened in the Belcher Hospital this year.

Mrs. Dexter likened the success of an auxiliary to that of a successful cake, the ingredients of which blended together help to make the finished job a success.

Mrs. Williams, first vice-president, then thanked the Coleman club for their invitation and felt very humble at being invited to attend. She had never attended such a large rally in her part of the province around Edmonton, but stated that she hoped that they would be able to hold such a one in the near future.

Provincial Secretary Mrs. Faggetter then addressed the meeting. She stated that she had not been in Coleman for many years, but had as a memento of her last visit in Coleman a write-up in The Coleman Journal written by Mr. Halliwell, former editor. She also had a large picture of the Crows Nest Mountain, which she had also been given on this occasion. At the time she was provincial president of the auxiliary.

Mrs. Faggetter then answered the questions which were in the question box.

Mrs. Mark then turned the meeting over to Mrs. Williams, 1st provincial vice-president for the concluding ceremonies. Mrs. Williams then retired the colors and with the singing of the Queen, a very successful rally meeting came to an end.

Following the meeting adjournment the ladies met at the Union hall where a very delicious supper was served at tastefully set tables by members of the women of St. Paul's United Church. Seated at the head table with the auxiliary officers were Mr. and Mrs. M. Drew, Mr. and Mrs. F. Aboussafy and Mr. T. Jepson, zone commander of the Canadian Legion.

At the conclusion of the supper Mr. Aboussafy presented the officers with gifts from the attending members.

Mr. H. Jepson, zone commander for the Legion, spoke a few words to the ladies. He wished the auxiliaries every success in the future. He congratulated the auxiliaries on their present job and the wonderful co-operation they were giving the Legion branches.

A short period of entertainment followed with pianists I. Spivak of Coleman, and J. Petrovsky of Blairmore, accompanying the various artists. Those entertaining were Mrs. A. Stonehouse, Mrs. E. Campbell, Ann Sygata, A. Hardy, all of Coleman; Betty Audubert, Pincher Creek; Mrs. Watson, Bellevue; Mrs. MacDonald of Port Macleod.

To wind up a very successful and enjoyable rally the ladies gathered in the Legion club rooms where the Legion supplied refreshments and entertainment.

Mrs. H. Maslen acted as master of ceremonies, to introduce mirth provoking fashion show staged by members of the Clareholm auxiliary. This featured fashions of the years 1929 onwards and was

World Happenings In Pictures

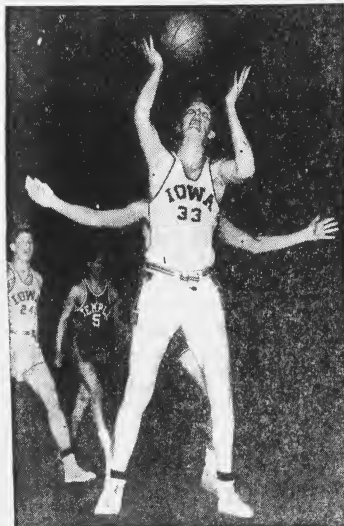

BLACK AND BLUE—are the colors sported by Detroit's Red Kelly. Souvenirs of playoff games are the "moose" under his right eye and the ugly gashes at the side of his mouth. He wore a mask in the opening game of the Stanley Cup final against Canadiens.

MODEL OF QUEEN—This new model of the Queen in the "alt robes of the Sovereign of the Order of The Garter" can be seen by visitors at Madame Tussaud's Waxworks Exhibition in London, England. This is the 14th model of the Queen to appear in the Exhibition since 1928. Miss Joan Bertrand, the wardrobe mistress, is shown with it.

TAKEN 40th WIFE—Tall, bearded Bedouin chief, Sheikh Suleiman of the Husseid tribe in the Negrev grazing lands of Israel, has decided to take as his 40th wife, 18-year-old Brigitte Margolin, a German girl waiting in the Bavarian town of Landau for the abolition of the ban on Germans entering Israel. Suleiman is reported have 74 sons by his previous 39 wives.

HIDDEN TALENT—An unidentified gladiator contributes the four-armed effect to the picture as Iowa Hawkeyes' forward Bill School makes a recovery in a cage battle with the Temple Owls at Evanston, Ill.

THE SILENT ALARM—Trappist monks sent the heavens day and night from rooftops of Our Lady of New Mollary monastery, Dubuque, Iowa, as members of the nation's Ground Observer Corps. Those among the complement of 40 sky-watchers who man telephones to the Air Force Filter Center at Des Moines have been granted special permission by their religious superiors to break the order's vow of silence. The monks normally communicate by means of hand signals only.

FATHER AND SON TEAM—Unique in the history of Trans-Canada Air Lines is this father and son team who became the first pilot and co-pilot of the same TCA plane on a scheduled flight from Toronto to Windsor. Arthur Hollinson, senior, was the pilot and his son, Armand, co-pilot. They are seen just before take-off.

WISTFUL VISTA FOR UNIQUE BIRD—Tiny turkey poult on scale, hatched from an unfertilized egg (parthenogenesis), is weighed by Dr. Marlow W. Olsen, co-discoverer of the phenomenon in turkey eggs, at Department of Agriculture's research center, Beltsville, Md. The bird, first of known parthenogenetic origin to live for more than a few hours, has already made poultry history. Dr. Olsen and co-workers hope to grow the poult to maturity so that it can be used as a breeder, to test, against normal breeders, the incidence of the occurrence and whether it is hereditary. Researchers hope it will provide a key to unlock at least part of the mystery surrounding fertility and hatchability of turkey eggs, a serious problem to the turkey industry.

YEAR-ROUND EASTER TREAT—This small boy has solved, to his heart's content, the mystery of where the Easter bunny lives all during the year. It's in this gigantic Easter egg, of course. The glorified rabbit hutch is one of the featured attractions in the "Enchanted Forest", children's amusement park near Baltimore, Md.

HARVEST TIME—The pay's good while it lasts—about $1,000 an hour. Natives of Margarita on the Venezuelan island of Margarita net a twice-yearly haul as schools of bonita make their migratory runs past the island. The average catch of about 6,000 fish takes three hours to bring in. Price received for each fish represent about 50 cents in American money.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY —

lazy boy

—By I. DE LA TORRE

HIS sneakers raising puffs of dust, Billy raced down the path to the lake. Now he stopped, snatched an overhanging branch and clung to it, gasping for breath. After a backward glance satisfied him that the little white schoolhouse no longer showed through the trees, he jerked up his black trousers and shuffled on.

"School!" he mumbled to himself. "I'm sick of it! And it Ma put on any more crying acts when I talk about quitting, it just ain't going to do her any good. I could fake my age and join the Navy to see the Nuh! I'll just drift around, free like a kite."

Now that his future was so promptly settled, Billy looked around for something to attract his immediate interest. A thin column of smoke rising from the clearing caught his eye.

"Funny time for anybody to have a fire on the beach," he told himself and dashed across. The two men crouching over the fire turned around as Billy approached. Both wore shabby clothes, and their faces looked as if untouched by water or razor for weeks.

"You — you tramps?" Billy blurted.

The two men looked at each other and the one sitting on an overturned log can answered.

"Yeah, we're bums. What you doin' here? Ain't yuh supposed tuh be in school?"

"Sure. Just taking a vacation today," and Billy grinned, pleased with his wit.

The big man who had just spoken picked up a twig, snapped it, threw it on the fire.

"Hey, Joe," he grunted to his companion, "what yuh say duh kid joins up wid us?" He put his hand on the boy's shoulder.

"You mean go around tramping with you?" Billy broke in.

"Yuh know how tuh ride rails, kuf?" Billy inquired.

"Sure — sure I do. Billy wasn't as certain as he sounded, but from what he had seen of "riding the rails" in the movies it looked easy enough.

The first tramp picked up a rusty can with the aid of a stick propped it in the centre of the crackling twigs. He was still poking it into position as he drawled out, "Hey, Joe. Member Horney Shinder? Jus' heard other day he lost his leg ridin' onah Santa Fe. Trackman followed up his blood fer ten miles."

"Aw, that guy could'n hold on tuh a kiddy car 'out fallen off. Yeah, got woid Beady Oslor got it too las' week. Head crushed 'tween couplers like it was eh squashed egg." Here Joe paused and pointed to Billy's feet.

"Mike, wou'd'ah ast dah kid gimme his shoes? Mine's ain't got mud sole on 'em tuh grind up fer chewin' tobacco."

"Mine?" Billy cried. He held one foot forward for them to see. "These are my only school shoes and I—"

"Yeah—yours," Mike snarled. "Yuh ain't going tuh school no more, is yuh?" He started to stand up but Joe motioned him down. "Aw, letton have 'em. He'll be wearin' newspapers 'round his feet soon 'nuf. We got 'nother forty below winter of last year an' no doubt dah remains of muh toes'll get frozen off. Hah, nebbe muh feet'll be little 'nuf tuh wrap intuh dah tabloids," he finished, chuckling to himself.

Billy, kneeling beside the fire, watched the dying flames and fidgeted with the buckle on his belt.

"Yuh scatchin' agin?" Mike grunted at his companion.

"Can't help it, Mike. Jus' thinkin' 'bout 'dat flop jernt las' night. Feez! Dos beddins crawlin' over innah drah was so big I figured mebbe dey was turtles."

Mike grinned broadly and picked up his stick to poke the can. "Chow'n!" he called to Joe.

Billy leaned over and peered into the can. "What—what is it?" he stammered.

"Steved pig tails," Mike drawled. "Ain't often we got such luck as tuh get such good eat'n as that, do we Joe?"

"Yeah, 'member dat time we couldn't get nuttin but fish heads otta dah garbage pails? Musta been time wasn't much meat 'round."

"Here, kid," Mike was proudly holding up the can. "New members foist. Gobble it down when it's still good'n hot, boy."

"No—no thanks. I—I—" Billy's lips clenched together and his hands went instinctively over his mouth. He shook his head and fled.

Mike dropped the can, threw back his head and laughed until he sank to the ground exhausted. His companion wiped a laugh-tear away.

"What did you do, Mike?" he panted. "Broil our worms?"

Mike nodded. "The fishing was getting terrible, anyway." He rose wearily off the ground. "Come on, let's look for the canoe and start home. And please remember, dear brother, that it's your turn to take mother to a fish dinner at the Seaford Grotto."

Why exercise?

BY S. F. CALDWELL

Physical Director, Regina Y.M.C.A., Regina, Saskatchewan

Research data recently published in the United States and Canada has pointed out the low fitness level of the North American people in terms of muscular strength, endurance and flexibility.

Many of our children and adults alike lack sufficient strength to lift their own body weight up to chin height and are unable to bend, keeping the knees straight, and touch their fingers to the ground.

The need for more exercise of a vigorous nature is greatly in evidence in our era of television, movies and spectacles.

Experiments have shown that individuals who exercise are subject to fewer colds, less nervous tension and fewer backaches than persons who live a highly pressured life of appointments and tense, frustrating situations with no outlet whatsoever.

The tremendous importance of exercise in terms of personal health, strength and vitality cannot be overstressed. Few people realize that sedentary living brings about a gradual shrinking and obliteration of the capillaries in the heart muscle; lungs, and in the muscles. It should also be noted that headaches and insomnia go hand in hand with the physically untrained state.

Recent data from Dr. Hans Kraus has shown that by giving exercise to people with lower back pains the result for most of these persons was the elimination of the painful affliction. While the improvement may be attributed primarily to increasing strength in the pelvic area, promotion of circulation in the lumbar and sacral area was tremendously important.

Exercise leads to greater strength, agility, balance, endurance and flexibility. The types of activity an individual may engage in to receive an adequate amount of exercise are walking, hiking, skiing, skating, hockey, swimming, track and field, wrestling, gymnastics, weight training, callisthenics and numerous others.

Games also play an important role in the physical development of the individual, but they are only a part of the physical training picture. Most games exercise and develop the muscles of the thighs and legs and entirely miss the arms, shoulders, chest and back muscles.

A varied exercise program, involving the large muscles of the lower and upper body will not only enhance the appearance of the individual but also the physical efficiency so he may better serve himself and others.

Make retirement a new career

Many busy active people find that after retirement they cannot stand the monotony of idleness. Once the lifetime job is ended, there should be a substitute to occupy hands and mind. For at least ten years before retirement, a lot of time should be spent in choosing and experimenting with various hobbies and spare-time occupations, to be commercially profitable or not, according to the need for money to help to eke out the pension. There are many volumes available in most public libraries in which various hobbies are described, and most people will find several of interest for their later "career."

GARDEN NOTES —

Frequent change of residence no obstacle to good garden

Even people who have just moved into a brand new house can have a good garden and have it this season too. Even those who rent and move every few years can also have an excellent showing. In these cases, of course, we rely on annual flowers rather than perennials which must get established. And, it is amazing what can be done with annuals exclusively. We can get vines that will cover a porch in a matter of weeks, things like scarlet runner beans, morning glories. Or we can use window boxes filled with trailing nasturtiums, and semi-trailing petunias, marigolds and zinnias.

For big screens to act as hedges there are all sorts of rapid growing bushy annuals like cosmos, african marigolds, spider plants, larkspur, hibiscus, malope and others that are listed in any Canadian seed catalogue. These quick growers reach two to four feet and will take the place of shrubs and give privacy as well as abundance of bloom. As for the regular beds, there are hundreds of annuals from which to choose.

Where we have just moved in we can combine special annuals with the permanent perennials which will eventually take their place. In amongst the tiny new shrubs, climbers, and trees, we plant liberally with big annuals and we continue to do this for the first few years until the permanent stuff has got established and requires the full room.

Can't buy this quality

We all know the old argument about it being cheaper to buy vegetables than for the urban man to grow them. That is all very well but it overlooks an important point. No matter how handy the store and how fast the transportation, it just isn't possible to buy the sort of freshness that comes only with vegetables grown in one's own garden.

Any roasting flame, the researchers point out, produces minute amounts of gases which react with hemoglobin remaining in the flesh of even well-bled birds to leave the tinge.

The age of the bird, amount of fat under its skin, heat of the flame and method of roasting determine how much of the flesh turns pink and how deep the color goes, the specialists added.

Foreign themes in new fabrics

Decorating fabrics this year borrow color and design ideas from many countries.

The Far Eastern theme appears in everything from upholstery to draperies, and the golden tones associated with Oriental designs assume major importance.

Yellow, ranging in hue from pale pastels to bronze-golds, emerges as an outstanding decorating color for spring.

From Southern Europe comes a wide range of blue-greens, winery-reds, rich purples and browns. Attractive floral prints blend well with French Provincial, while geometrics are liked in Scandinavian-influenced modern settings.

As for the fabrics themselves, most important news is the abundance of easy-care blends of synthetics and natural fibres, with the emphasis on texture.

WEEKLY BIBLE COMMENT

PENTECOST MARKS BIRTH OF THE
CHRISTIAN CHURCH

The birth of the Christian church is usually dated from the Day of Pentecost.

Hitherto, Christianity had its growth in the fellowship of the Teacher and His disciples moving about from place to place. But now, with their Master ascended, the disciples became organized into a more definite fellowship.

Originally, Pentecost was a festival held 50 days after the Passover. A Jewish festival, it became a symbol in the Christian church of the outpouring of spiritual power. We speak today of a "Pentecost of grace," a "Pentecost of blessing," a "Pentecost of power."

What did it mean to receive the Holy Spirit? What do we mean by the Holy Spirit? There have been various forms of definition and interpretation, even among those who have accepted the belief in three persons in the Godhead—Father, Son and Holy Spirit. Some have thought of them as three manifestations of the one God.

It is obvious that in considering the Trinity we are in a realm of mystery, where definitions and explanations are exceedingly difficult and where any one man's human conception may fall far short of reality.

Perhaps we may say that the Holy Spirit represented to the disciples the same Presence that Jesus had represented when He was among them.

The baptism of the Holy Spirit is the baptism of God—the power of God manifest in the hearts and lives of men.

Brother-in-law of Local Residents Has Close Call

Mr. Charles Hetherington, a former Coleman resident, and a brother-in-law of Mr. Jim May-ard of Coleman, had a very close call last week when the tank he was welding exploded. Mr. Hetherington was the RCME sergeant instructor stationed in Blairmore in 1950-51 and moved to Calgary in 1952 as an instructor in RCME workshops. He later was discharged after completing 20 years in the army. Six were spent overseas with the army during World War II. His many friends here in Coleman wish him a speedy recovery.

An explosion set off by a welder's torch rocked the Western Asphalt Ltd. plant at 4103 40th ave. S. W. Wednesday afternoon, and blew the welder 24 feet in the air, smashing him against the ceiling.

The welder, Charles Hetherington, 46, of 1825 Ash Rd., Bowness, escaped serious injury. He was taken to General Hospital by Stair's ambulance suffering leg and hip bruises and minor head burns.

Hetherington told the Albertan he had been spot welding an asphalt transfer unit and was walking along the top of the tank when it blew up.

"It felt like I was just being plucked into the air," he said.

"A lot of thoughts sure can run through your head in a few short seconds. My first thought was for my wife and the next was the guys working with me (none of whom was injured)."

"I thought I was going to eternity. And then I hit the ceiling. A chunk of steel from the tank smashed right through the ceiling beside me. I guess I was lucky.

"I turned a somersault on the way down and hit the floor standing up. I slipped on something and landed on my hip.

"I was shaken up a lot in the war but it was never anything like that. I thought I was dead."
